New Art Work By Contemporary Oaxacan Masters

Curated By Calixto Robles

Painting Printmaking Video Photography Music Sculpture

From June 1st To July 27, 2007

Curator's Statement

Background

Oaxaca is a state in the south of Mexico, rich in culture and tradition, a place that has given birth to the Mixtec and the Zapotec and to brave and liberal people like Benito Juarez, Ricardo Flores Mago and the impoverished state due to the corrupted political party, the PRI-PAN Mexican parties, who for years have been exploiting and robbing the Oaxacan people.

Oaxaca is a place where the arts have flourished, especially painting, printmaking and ceramic. Rufino Tamayo, Rodolfo Nieto, Rodolfo Morales, and Francisco Toledo have brought fame to Mexico. Now a new generation of artists, some of whom are in this show, for example, Alejandro Santiago Morales, Jorge Lopez Garcia, Ernesto H. Olmos, to name a few have emerged.

The Uprising

Last year a series of events gave way to a long resistance and organization of the Oaxacan people. Justice is administered. In the early morning of June 14, 2006, the police, sent in by the tyrant Ruiz Ortiz, attacked a peaceful sit in of the teachers in the main square of Oaxaca to demand

More than 800 police, supported by helicopters and dogs, tried to empty the main square in
